Money.

[Baltimore American.]
Money—money—money.
Hustle day and night;
Toll and save and scrip and share,
And scheme with all your might.
Pennies grow to dollars
Very soon, we find,
But by and-by we have to die
And leave it all behind.
Money—money—money.
Dollars are the prize,
Hundreds each represents,
And oft a hundred lies.
Thousands grow to millions.
Just when they grow dear
We go away—the millions stay—
We leave the money here.
Money—money—money.
Harden up your heart.
Take a chance for the chance—
Steal it—if you're smart.
Friendship, love or duty—
Drop them—money's all.
But later on, when you are gone,
There'll be a tearless pall.
Money—money—money.
Who invented it?
Ghastly joke on honest folk—
Sombre sort of wit.
Dollars—dollars—dollars.
They have this distress:
Their only worth is on this earth—
Shrouds are pocketless.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

County Superintendent G. W. Blatterman Tells of His Visit to Orangeburg District No. 21.

ORANGEBURG SCHOOL DISTRICT NO. 21.
Here again the trustees have been faithful and fortunate in the selection of two teachers. Mr. S. C. Grimes is principal and Miss Lella Herbert assistant. Mr. Grimes is a gentleman of very pleasant manners, a fine scholar and a good disciplinarian. Miss Lella Herbert is a young lady of sweet, pleasant address, and has charge of the primary classes. Her room is packed full, and all seemed pleasant and happy, on excellent terms with their teacher. The school differs from many schools in the county, in that the attendance was highly satisfactory. Mr. Grimes teaches the advanced classes and they show by their recitations the result from having a first-class teacher.

The trustees are Cornelius Coryell, A. C. Parker and J. R. Shipley, and they have been faithful.

There has been a deal of foolish controversy about the terms of office of the trustees. Dr. Ford was appointed June, 1898, in place of D. A. Cooper, who resigned. Cooper's term would have expired under the new law June, 1901. Doctor resigned in 1899 and I appointed Neville Orridge in his place. Mr. Bullock and Thos. Dickson were elected in 1898, but as only one trustee could be elected lawfully, Mr. Dickson was declared the trustee. Then Mr. Bullock obtained an appointment, but that was no good because the board was full, having three trustees already, and the appointment was null. I have high hopes of Mr. Parker, who will, I think, make a most excellent trustee.

The district has a good school house with two rooms, situated in a large lot, affording fine play ground. They have a fine cistern, conveniently situated, and good outbuildings. The people of Orangeburg know how to appreciate the value and importance of a good school and it will tell, in the future, for they can give nothing to their children that equals, in value, a good education.

I next visited colored school No. 112, in Orangeburg. This is a large district, extending north and south from Orangeburg to the Ohio river. It is rather a tame school, taught in a church with nearly all the window lights out. The teacher is Miss Mary Dill, and she is very competent and does her best. I learn lately that they have erected a new school house, which I hope to see next session.

Having completed these visits I found the sun declining in the West and I left for home.

G. W. BLATTERMAN, Supt.

Senator Hansbrough's Jingle.

[Washington Times.]

Senator Hansbrough came into the Republican cloakroom of the Senate the other day when Senator Jones, of Arkansas, was speaking at length on the Subsidy bill. "That reminds me of a little gimerack that I have composed, or plagiarized from some one," he said. "It runs as follows: 'There was a young lady of Arkansas who could saw more wood than her maw could saw:'

She could sling a little ink,
And drink a little drink,
And chew more tobacco than her paw could chew."

The groundhog, it seems, made no account of the case when he settled the weather case.

The onion is eliminated from the diet of conductors on the Chicago City railway. So says an order issued by General Manager McCulloch, which reads: "Any conductor in whose breath is detected the odor of onions while on duty will be taken from his car and suspended or discharged. Employees of the Chicago City Railway company must not offend the public in such manner."—Exchange.

During a funny turn on the stage at the Walnut Street Theater, Cincinnati, one night a man in the balcony leaned over the railing convulsed with laughter. During an extraordinary burst of hilarity his false teeth flew from his mouth and fell in the lap of a lady who was sitting in the parquet. Those near looked up and saw the toothless man waving frantically to the lady to pick up his teeth. This caused a general laugh at his expense. The teeth were returned by an usher.—Exchange.

Home radish sauce is one of the best relishes to serve with beef. There are several different methods of making this sauce, most of them being excellent. One sauce is made thus: Take two tablespoonfuls of freshly grated horse radish, moisten it with a little vinegar and add one heaping teaspoonful of sugar, a scant teaspoonful of salt and half a teaspoonful of dry mustard. Mix these well together, and just before serving stir in three tablespoonfuls of whipped cream that has been well drained.

New York's Slave Ship.

When New York city owned a slave-ship is told in an article in Pearson's Magazine. The greatest impetus was given to the slave trade by the act of parliament of 1684, which legalized slavery in the North American colonies. This does not mean that slavery was unknown in what is now the United States before that time, because as early as 1620 a Dutch man-of-war landed and sold 20 African negroes at Jamestown, Va.

In 1626 the West India company imported slaves from the West Indies to New York city, then New Amsterdam. The city itself owned shares in a slave-ship, advanced money for its fitting out and shared in the profits of its voyages. This recognition and encouragement may account for the astounding fact that in 1750 slaves formed one-sixth of the entire population of New York. The general prevalence of slavery is shown by the fact that at this time there were 67 slaves in New York's small suburb of Brooklyn, and that in London itself there were resident 20,000 slaves.

Slaves were at that time publicly dealt in on the London exchange. No wonder the traffic in human flesh was a recognized commerce, and that in 1771 the English alone sent to Africa 192 ships equipped for the trade and with a carrying capacity of 47,146 slaves per trip.

A Tricky Dog.

Not long ago a very fat spaniel was introduced into the house where a fox terrier had always been the master. The latter was told, however, to behave well to the newcomer and not to bully him. So the two seemed fairly friendly and in the end got in the habit of taking short rambles together.

However, the fox terrier was evidently of a thoughtful disposition and on one occasion came across a bank, or wall, which was easy enough to leap off, but there was greater difficulty in returning. The fox terrier sprang down the bank and enticed his heavy companion to follow, with the result that the latter could not get back, while the former, by reason of his greater activity, was easily able to do.

Now the terrier saw his opportunity, returned home and cruelly left his companion lamenting. Never did the former seem happier or gayer than on that day when he had once more the sole run of the house, and he sulked when later on the spaniel had been found, assisted up the wall and brought home.

Since then the fox terrier has repeatedly got the spaniel down the same place, with the usual result, and seems to glory in his mischievous act. Whether the "fat dog" will learn to avoid temptation to such a ramble remains to be seen.—Buffalo News.

How "David Harum" Came to Be Written.

An interesting little anecdote is told about how "David Harum" came to be written. It is rather pathetic. It seems that Mr. Wescott, the author, was the kind of man who could do pretty much anything—paint a picture, plan a house or compose a sonata—but he had never made much money, so when he became ill and realized that he might not live long and would leave his family with little or no money he was desperate.

"Write a book," suggested a friend and neighbor to him one day when they were talking over the situation.

"I did make an attempt at it once," answered Mr. Wescott. "I tried a love story, but I couldn't make it go."

"Add a little local color to it," said the first speaker. "Take one of the people about here that you know and work him up—old —, for instance," mentioning a character familiar to them both. "He'd be first rate."

"That's a good idea!" exclaimed Mr. Wescott, and the result of this conversation was "David Harum," and yet "David" was never in the story at all as it was first conceived.—Anna Wentworth in Woman's Home Companion.

Beating His Jaws.

Shark stories, with some reason, are commonly received with incredulity. A well authenticated anecdote, however, is told of Dr. Frederic Hill, an English surgeon of distinction.

A man fell overboard in the Indian ocean and almost into a shark's mouth. Hill, who was standing close to the rail, grabbed a belaying pin and without hesitation jumped to save the sailor.

The great brute was just turning on his back to bite, when Hill drove the belaying pin right through both jaws. Both men were got on board again unharmed.

"Perhaps that fellow won't want another toothpick. Has any one got a clean shirt to lend? This was my last," were the only words of the rescuer.

Dr. Johnson once met the village postman trudging along the dusty road on a hot summer afternoon. The postman observed that he had still a mile to walk just to deliver one newspaper. "My goodness," exclaimed the sympathetic doctor, "I'd never go all that distance for such a trifle! Why don't you send it by post?"

HUMOR OF THE HOUR.

"And now, darling, it only remains for you to say when!"

But at this moment the automobile, which had reached the top of the hill, started down the other side with frightful velocity.

The young man hastily applied the brake.

It failed to work.

He shut off the power.

It was too late.

The maddened machine raced down the steep grade.

At the foot of the incline there was a sharp turn to the left.

Here the automobile left the turnpike and ran down the embankment, throwing the young couple out and landing them in a big pile of sand.

"Never mind, darling," exclaimed the youth, who, with hat gone, collar loose at one end and coat ripped up the back, was presently engaged in digging sand out of the hysterical maiden's mouth, "this is one time that the course of true love ran smooth, even if it did get a bit of a jolt at the end of the run."

"Cyrus Winterbottom," she said, half an hour later, as they were journeying toward home in a farmer's wagon, "I believe you did the whole thing on purpose so you could have the chance of saying something smart."—Chicago Tribune.

A Different Matter.

Tom—I paid a visit to Miss Sweetie's house yesterday and found her old man at home.

Dick—Ha! What did the old bear do—kick you out?

Tom—Oh, no. He was very polite; asked me to call again.

Dick—You don't mean it. Why, he never lets any one call on his daughter.

Tom—I wasn't calling on her. I was trying to collect a bill the old man owes the firm.—Philadelphia Press.

He Knew the Spot.

An amusing anecdote is related of General Sherman, who, as commanding general of the army, visited West Point one June for the graduation exercises. He accompanied the commandant on his Sunday morning tour of inspection of barracks, and on entering a certain room he walked over to the mantelpiece. Stooping down, he pried up a brick from the middle of the hearth with his sword scabbard and revealed a hollow space about a foot square, in which was nicely packed a considerable quantity of tobacco and other contraband articles. Meanwhile the cadets occupying the room stood by mutely watching and wondering what sort of man the general was to have been able to discover the only "cellar" of its kind in barracks. Turning to the commandant, the general remarked:

"I have been wondering if that hole was still there. I made it when I was a cadet and lived in this room."—New York Tribune.

Idiocy in Numbers.

The Editor—We'll try if the specific is hard 2 take. If not, we will try it 4thwith.

Subeditor—If cured, it will be a 1der indeed!

Assistant Sub—1oderly, gentlemen, 'tis a sore subject.

Deputy Assistant Sub—Yes, and requiring 40tude 2 bear.

Correspondence Editor—This is carrying the matter as far as 80quette will bear.

Office Boy—Those who are so 4-2n-8 as to do the above will find each paragraph 2 contain a slight 11 of humor.

Printer's Devil—5-4 shame, gentlemen—5-4 shame!—Pearson's.

He Ought to Marry.

Miss Antique—You ought to get married, Mr. Oldchapp.

Mr. Oldchapp (earnestly)—I have wished many times lately that I had a wife.

Miss Antique (delighted)—Have you, really?

Mr. Oldchapp—Yes. If I had a wife, she'd probably have a sewing machine, and the sewing machine would have an oil can, and I could take it and oil my office chair. It squeaks horribly.—Exchange.

Cutting Watch Glasses.

In the production of common watch glasses the glass is blown into a sphere about a meter in diameter, sufficient material being taken to give the desired thickness, as the case may be. Disks are then cut out from this sphere with the aid of a pair of compasses having a diamond at the extremity of one leg. There is a knack in detaching the disk after it has been cut. A good workman will, it is said, cut 6,000 glasses in a day.

"Beg pardon," said the rude young man, gathering his features together again, "I simply couldn't suppress that yawn."

"Don't mention it," replied the bright girl, "by the way, that reminds me I visited the Mammoth cave last summer."—Exchange.

Her Knowledge of Chinese.

A young woman at a waterlug place one summer made a reputation as a profound linguist in a rather odd manner. She called one day at a Chinese laundry where she had left a shirt waist, but it could not be found, as there was no entry in the book of hieroglyphs corresponding to her pink slip. After a half hour's search the Chinaman found the entry. A mistake had been made, so the entry was crossed out and a new set of hieroglyphs in tiny characters placed below. She was told that the waist would be laundered immediately, and she could get it the next day.

The next day the young woman called for it, accompanied by three other young women. At the seniors the excitement of a visit to the Chinese laundry is not to be despised. The Chinaman to whom the pink slip was presented was not the laundryman of the day before, and he experienced the same difficulty in finding the identifying character, finally saying, "Not in book."

The girl answered calmly, "I can find it," and the Chinaman allowed her to take the book. Turning the leaves until she came to one that had an entry crossed out with another in tiny characters under it, she handed it to the Chinaman. "There it is," and, to his surprise, he found it.

"You only lady I know spik Chinese," he said. And the other girls looked upon her with admiration.—Kansas City World.

The Unique Horn of the Unicorn.

The horn of a unicorn was shown at Windsor castle and in 1598 was valued at over £10,000. Lewis Vertomannus, a gentleman of Rome, saw with his own eyes two unicorns presented to the sultan of Mecca by a king of Ethiopia. They were in a park of the temple of Mecca and were not much unlike a colt of 30 months of age. This was in 1503. The animal became extinct about the end of the seventeenth century.

The unicorn is represented in the ruins at Persepolis, and it was adapted by the Persians as the emblem of speed and strength. In the middle ages it was the symbol of purity. The unicorn hated the elephant, and it used to whet its horn on a stone before it struck the foe in the abdomen. No family, by the way, should be without one of these horns, the average length of which is four feet. They defend from witchcraft. Thus Torquemada had one always on his writing table. Furthermore, a drinking cup made from one will be a safeguard against poison, as will the ground powder put in drink, and indeed the wells of the palace of St. Mark could not be poisoned in the good old days of adventure because these beneficent horns had been thrown into them. Unicorn's horn was formerly sold by apothecaries at $120 an ounce.—Boston Journal.

Fat Policemen.

"Have you ever noticed that nearly all policemen get fat?" asked a man who keeps his eyes open. "This would seem to disprove the theory that walking in the open air is a means of reducing superfluous weight. I have known new policemen to start on their beats weighing no more than 125 pounds. In six months they would tip the scales at 150 and in a year reach the 200 mark."

It must be the slow samtering in the open air that does it, for I have noticed that while policemen grow fat the house sergeants, who are confined to the stations, are invariably thin. Those who patrol the streets gain the maximum weight in about three years. The muscles then harden, and despite their apparent burden of flesh the men usually develop great activity. One of the best runners and jumpers I know is a policeman who weighs nearly 300 pounds.—Philadelphia Record.

A Bishop's Retort.

At a dinner party a young man was once talking rather foolishly about Darwin and his books, and he said to the bishop of Winchester (Wilberforce), "My lord, have you read Darwin's last book on the 'Descent of Man'?" "Yes, I have," said the bishop, whereupon the young man continued: "What nonsense it is talking of our being descended from apes! Besides, I can't see the use of such stuff. I can't see what difference it would make to me if my grandfather was an ape."

"No," the bishop replied, "I don't see that it would. But it must have made an amazing difference to your grandmother!"

The young man had no more to say.

The Christmas Rabbit.

The colored boy who finds a hare in his traps on Christmas day expects confidently to be lucky during the coming year. The left hind foot of such a rabbit is second in value as a charm only to that of one killed in a graveyard in the dark of the moon.

Dust of the sea is one of the mysteries which perplex sailors. No matter how carefully the decks of sailing ships may be washed down in the morning an enormous quantity of dust can be swept up at night.

MAGNET FOR FARMERS.

Great Display in the Division of Agriculture at Exposition.

The prominent display in the Division of Agriculture at the Pan-American Exposition will be the magnet that will attract progressive farmers. Here they can learn what their brother farmers are doing to lighten labor and improve the products of the fields. The exhibit will embrace all phases of agricultural work, showing the advantages of different processes and methods of work and the products of the garden and field in their great variety under all sorts of conditions. Under their proper classifications will be shown methods of fertilization, farm management and processes, experiments with various crops in different soils, climate, etc.; reports from different states and provinces showing the aggregate of crops and products of all kinds; exhibits of all products of the farm and garden. This will be a splendid school of instruction for the farmer.

The Bontawain's Judgment.

It was somewhere in this wide world, just where has slipped my mind, and they were about to buy beef on hoof for the ships. So the officer whose duty it is to make the purchase took ashore with him the bo's'n, as representing the crew, to look over the animals and either object or not. They approached the first animal.

"How will that do?" asked the officer.

The bo's'n cautiously approached the beast, bent down and gingerly ran his thumb and forefinger down first one shank and then the other until the whole four shanks had been examined. Straightening up he said:

"He'll do all right, sir."

The officer, flabbergasted, cried:

"But, dash it all, you can't tell the good points of a bullock by the shanks!"

"Perhaps not, sir, but they're the only parts we ever gets, sir," was the reply.—Fall Mail Gazette.

His Accent.

One day Lord Morris was sitting at the Four Courts as lord chief justice of Ireland when a young barrister from the north rose nervously to make his first motion. The judge had declared that no one listening to himself would ever take him for anything but an Irishman, which was perfectly correct. But Galway could not understand Antrim. The lord chief justice leaned over to ask the associate where the barrister hailed from.

"County Antrim," was the response. Then asked his lordship of the official, "Did ye ever come across such a frightful accent in the course of yer tolfe?"

Gaslight on Gems.

The appearance of all fine gems is improved by gaslight. A perfect emerald, despite its color, which in anything else would turn to a dull gluish hue, is only intensified in brilliancy of color by artificial light. The blue sapphire, though darkened, remains true to its color, as by daylight. The alexandrite is the only gem that changes from a dark olive to a brilliant blood red by candle or gas light.

No Difference.

English Customer to manager of restaurant—I see, Signor Maraschino, that the American gentleman and his wife, who have just left, drank nothing but water with their dinner. Does that make much difference in their bill?

Signor Maraschino—Notting, sir. They pay same as yourself and lady, who 'ave champagne; otherwise 'ow should we live?—London Punch.

Heard Him Sigh.

"I have been sitting on the porch listening to the sighing of the wind," she said sentimentally by way of explanation of her long absence from the house.

"Yes; I heard him sigh," promptly put in the small boy.

"Him? Who?" demanded the head of the household.

"Why, that young fellow you always said was nothing but wind," answered the boy. And thus was the secret betrayed.—Chicago Post.

Undertook Too Much.

"George," said Mrs. Ferguson, "for heaven's sake straighten up! You're worse hump shouldered than ever."

"Laura," retorted Mr. Ferguson, "be satisfied with having married me to reform me. When you try to reshape me, you are undertaking too much."—Chicago Tribune.

THE BILLION BEHEMOTH.

Although the figures are somewhat staggering in their vast volume, there is really no ground for surprise, says the St. Louis Republic, at Wall street's estimate that Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan will personally make a profit of over $25,000,000 on his deal to consolidate the great steel industries of this country.

"You must remember that it is a billion-dollar trust which this man is organizing," says the Republic.

"Pause just a moment and try to realize what a billion dollars means in its possibilities of power and vast enrichment for the men who deal in such colossal amounts. Then, when you turn to the $25,000,000 which Mr. Morgan is thought to have cleared at the very outset of the deal, your original feeling of surprise will have vanished. It's a mere bagatelle, this little $25,000,000.

"And, dismissing the original rake-off with a wave of the hand, turn again to a contemplation of the steel 'combine' which represents the consolidation of one billion dollars for monopoly purposes. What is not possible to such a combine? What chance may labor or lesser capital or individual manufacturers possess against this behemoth? What show of fair prices, regulated by the law of supply and demand, will the buyer of this trust's products find in the monopolized markets? These questions are worth while thinking over. The billion-dollar steel trust is so big that it casts an ominous shadow across the face of the entire industrial world."

A Disgrace to America. [New York Journal.]

Public men are fond of making fools of themselves in many ways and of showing in their true characters. Admiral Sampson, who hereafter must be looked upon as a disgrace to American citizenship and to the American navy, has expressed his feebleness of spirit, pathetically and completely.

Wise legislation demanded by public opinion has at last authorized the promotion in the navy of men from the ranks.

Gunner Morgan, a man as Sampson admits of admirable character, good education, temperate habits and professional ability, applied for promotion.

Admiral Sampson, the unparalleled idiot of public life, vetoes the man's application on the ground, if you please, that he is not "a gentleman."

Admiral Sampson, the most extraordinary sample of two-legged idiot that the world has ever seen, feels that if men should be promoted from the ranks they would "not know how to behave at social parties on board ship."

DIED AT WASHINGTON.

Mayor B. R. Wilson, of Aberdeen. Suddenly Stricken at the National Capital Last Night.

A telegram from Washington City announces the death of Mayor B. R. Wilson, of Aberdeen, at the National Capital last night.

Mr. Wilson left Saturday on the 1:36 train for Washington to visit his son Omar and attend the inauguration. He had just recovered from a serious attack of neuralgia of the face, which had caused intense suffering. It is supposed the trip caused a fresh attack, as he died a few hours after his arrival.

Mr. Wilson was one of Aberdeen's best citizens. He was about sixty years old and is survived by his wife, three sons, Oscar, of Cincinnati, Omar, of Washington, and Martin, of the Vanceburg Sun, and four daughters, Mrs. Maud Stephens and Miss Lottie Wilson, of Frankfort, Miss Blanche Wilson and Mrs. Carrie Ellis, of Aberdeen.

The funeral arrangements have not been learned.

Dover News: "The bright leaf tobacco raised by Osborne & McGraw, which took the first premium at the Mayeville tobacco fair, is said to have been raised on the same piece of ground that produced a hoghead of tobacco which was awarded the first premium at a tobacco fair in New Orleans over sixty years ago. The tobacco was raised by Uncle Sam Walton, who owned the place at the time, and was prized and shipped by Tabb & Lyon, who owned the two brick warehouses that formerly stood on the river bank. It would seem that Mason County land holds good regardless of time. The land is now a part of the Scott Osborne farm."

The second of the series of Sunday night lectures at St. Patrick's Church by Rev. Father Ennis was well attended last night, and the subject, "The Mortality of the Soul, Free Will and Predestination," was handled in that masterly way characteristic of the speaker, who had the closest attention of the splendid audience throughout the discourse, lasting over an hour. It is useless to say the audience was pleased, as Father Ennis never fails to both please and instruct his hearers.

Grind less— get more

You will get more satisfaction from a cupful of Arbuckles' Coffee than from other coffees—and more cupfuls to the pound. Arbuckles' is not only better than many coffees that cost more, but is actually cheaper to use than the coffees that sell for a cent less per pound. Not another firm in the whole world can buy coffee to better advantage than the producers of

ARBUCKLES' Roasted Coffee

No other coffee (not even the fancy-priced) is cleansed, roasted, blended and packed with greater care or more skill. Buy Arbuckles' Coffee and get better quality and greater value than you could get in any other coffee at anywhere near the same price.

With each package of Arbuckles' Coffee you buy a definite part of some useful article (see list which each package contains). The article is yours whenever you present a certain number of signatures from the wrappers at our Notion Dept. Look for the list.

PROP'S OF BEE HIVE.

MRS. J. BARBOUR RUSSELL.

"Death Lies On Her Like an Untimely Frost Upon the Sweetest Flower of All the Field."

"The air is full of farewells to the dying And mourning for the dead."

Mrs. Pattie (Calvert) Russell, wife of Mr. J. Barbour Russell, died Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the family residence on East Third street.

While the friends of this good woman were in a measure prepared for the sad announcement, yet so suddenly was she summoned, taken in the very beauty and joy of young widowhood, that it is hard for the loved ones to realize their grievous loss in all its fullness.

Mrs. Russell was stricken with uraemic convulsions last Wednesday evening about 7:30 o'clock and never regained consciousness. Medical skill was exerted to its fullest and every effort put forth to stay the hand of death, but to no avail. The insidious disease had stealthily done its deadly work, and from the very moment she was stricken there was but slight hope of her recovery. But, peacefully the end came, as in a sleep, and her gentle spirit passed out into the glories of eternity.

Mrs. Russell was a daughter of the late Thomas Calvert of Lewisburg, and would have been twenty-nine years old on the 26th of this month. She is survived by her husband and by three sisters, Mrs. R. A. Carr, Mrs. Thomas Luttrell and Mrs. W. R. Key. Much of her life was spent in this city, and her lovely character, "chaste as the morning dew," had endeared her to a host of friends whose tenderest sympathy goes out to the stricken family in this dark hour.

The funeral will take place at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the family residence. Mrs. Russell had been a faithful member of the Christian Church several years and the funeral service will be conducted by the minister, Howard T. Cree. The remains will be laid to rest in the Maysville cemetery.

Arrived.

Largest stock, greatest variety, lowest priced stoves and ranges ever shown in the city. W. F. Power.

"I was troubled for several years with chronic indigestion and nervous debility," writes F. J. Green, of Lancaster, N. H. "No remedy helped me until I began using Electric Bitters, which did me more good than all the medicine I ever used. They have also kept my wife in excellent health for years. She says Electric Bitters are just splendid for female troubles; that they are a great tonic and invigorator for weak, run-down women. No other medicine can take its place in our family." Try them. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by J. Jas. Wood & Son, druggists.

At Winchester a jury rendered a verdict of $10,000 damages for the death of A. J. Alumbaugh, who was killed while stealing a ride on the L. and N. railroad. It is said he was thrown from a train.

The Court of Appeals has affirmed the judgment of the Mason Circuit Court against the Maysville Street Railway Company for $5,500 for causing the death of Isaac Thomas, a twelve-year-old boy, a few years ago.

To accommodate friends who wish to attend the burial of Mrs. J. Barbour Russell and who may not be able to secure other conveyance, an electric car will leave the convent switch just after the funeral service this afternoon.

In addition to stock advertised to be sold Mch. 6th, near Millersburg, I will sell twenty-three head of two-year-old steers and sixteen two-year-old grade heifers, due to calve in April.

B. D. BEST.

Gov. Beckham has refused to grant the petition for clemency in the case of E. K. Wilson, convicted of causing the death of Miss Mary Cloyd at London by a criminal operation. The petitions and remonstrances were the most voluminous ever filed in the Executive Department.

RESIDENCE BURNED.

The Baldwin Home on Jersey Ridge Destroyed by Fire Late Sunday Afternoon. Insured for $600.

The Baldwin dwelling house on Jersey Ridge, belonging to Mrs. Harriet Baldwin of Forest avenue, and occupied by Mr. Wm. Eitel, was destroyed by fire about 6 o'clock p. m. Sunday. It is not known how the flames originated.

Mr. Eitel, assisted by neighbors, succeeded in saving most of his furniture and household goods. He lost, however, about 3,000 pounds of tobacco, which he had bulked in a part of the building.

The building was part brick and part log weatherboarded, and was insured for $600 in the Farmers' Home Mutual of Mason County. Mr. Eitel had no insurance on his tobacco.

A MAYSVILLE MAN KILLED.

Samuel Parker One of Four Men Fatally Injured by a Boiler Explosion, Near Gallipolis.

GALLIPOLIS, Ohio, March 2.—Jacob Lindemood's mill at Creuzet was blown to pieces to-night by the explosion of the boiler, and Brady Lindemood, Sam Parker, Bert Iron and a son of G. J. Sheets were instantly killed and a number of others injured, one or two probably fatally. The cause of the explosion is unknown.

Mr. Parker was a son of Mrs. Mary Parker, who lives on Second street, opposite Daulton's stable, this city. She left Sunday for Gallipolis.

MURPHY, the jeweler.

Night Was Her Terror.

"I would cough nearly all night long," writes Mrs. Chas. Applegate, of Alexandria, Ind., "and could hardly get any sleep. I had consumption so bad that if I walked a block I would cough frightfully and spit blood, but, when all other medicines failed, three $1 bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery wholly cured me and I gained fifty-eight pounds." It's absolutely guaranteed to cure coughs, colds, la grippe, bronchitis and all throat and lung troubles. Price 50c. and $1. Trial bottles free at J. Jas. Wood & Son's drug store.

MRS. HANNAH WEIS.

A Sister of the Late Mrs. Judge Stanton Passed Away Friday at Her Home in Ashland.

Relatives and friends of this good woman in this city were pained to hear of her death on Friday last at her home in Ashland. The remains were brought here Sunday morning and laid to rest beside her son, Phares Weis, in the family lot, Maysville cemetery. Mrs. Weis was the daughter of Phares Throop, born in Alexandria, Va., and the wife of Hon. D. K. Weis, of Ashland. Her husband survives her, together with one son, Dr. Frank Weis, and two daughters, Mrs. Dr. Widney, of Los Angeles, Cal., and Mrs. Capt. Norton, Ashland, Ky. Deceased was a sister of the late Mrs. Judge Stanton and Mrs. Thomas J. Throop, of tender and sacred memory. She has one living near relative in this city, her niece, Mrs. Dr. A. G. Browning, East Third street.

Mrs. Weis was a typical "lady of the old school," whose class passes with the years. Naming even her known virtues would seem fulsome to those knowing her not, and 'tis enough that she fulfilled her mission and has entered into the reward of the "just made perfect." Peace to her honored remains and comfort to the sorrowing hearts at her late home.

"A BREEZY TIME."

This Section Visited by a Fierce Gale Sunday—Some Buildings Damaged.

The severest windstorm that has visited this section for many a day prevailed Sunday. It was almost cyclonic in its fury for a while at noon and for an hour or so afterwards, filling the air—and residences too—with dust and sand. The old warehouse, corner of Second and Limestone, was unroofed as was also a stable at Hon. W. H. Cox's home on West Second. In the country, fodder shocks and hay stacks were scattered, fences laid low and some buildings unroofed.

The temperature ran up from 34° to 78° during the day and then dropped during last night to 27°.

Try the best 10 cent cigar on the market, "La Aray." Brand registered. G. W. CHILDS.

A mammoth production of "Quo Vadis" comes to the opera house to-morrow night. The famous hook has been so universally read that the dramatization of it is eagerly welcomed. The version of the play follows the book closely and deals with the subject in a reverent spirit, thereby earning the plaudits, not only of the press and general public, but of the clergy and conservative element. The stage settings are unusually elaborate and present the Roman palaces in a remarkably realistic manner. The scenic effects form a fitting background for some very capable acting. That "All the world loves a lover" was never more conclusively proven than in the case of Vincius and Lygia, whose pretty love story of the play, while sombre, is lighted up by good comedy and a happy termination.

"We are pleased to report that the past week has been the best in a long while in our burley market.

"Receipts have been light and the offerings of new greatly reduced in consequence.

"Offerings of old tobacco, however, in consequence of the presence of an out-of-town buyer of old goods for his recently established factory, and a greatly strengthened market, were considerably increased.

"The interest chiefly centered on old tobaccos, and all grades, under the strong competition led by the buyer referred to, sold at an advance over the previous week, with perhaps the most uniformly satisfactory prices since last fall.

"Medium to good red fillers and bright trashes and tips were the best sellers, though in fact anything under about 9 cents sold well. The better sorts were not offered freely, but brought an advance over last week.

"Though the new offered was of very poor quality, and there was not the same demand for it as of old, previous prices were fully sustained, growing strongly as the week advanced, some especially good sales being made on Thursday.

The demand for the various grades of new continues relatively about the same as heretofore."

The horse and buggy stolen Friday night from Mr. Thomas Kubel near Washington have been found and the thief is in custody. Chief of Police Donovan received a telephone message from the Marshal of Carlisle late Saturday evening that a man was there with such an outfit trying to sell it for $20. Mr. Donovan at once wired to arrest the fellow. His name is Rock Himes, and he has been living in this city. A woman named Page, whose home is in Lexington, was with him when arrested. Himes is in jail at Carlisle. The horse is valued at $75 and the buggy at $125, but before arrested he had sold the outfit to a negro for only $20. Mr. Kubel recovered his buggy Sunday, and the horse will be brought back as soon as it recovers from its long drive.

D. HECHINGER & CO.

THE GREATEST IN THE STATE.

Were we only to make this statement it would smack of self-praise, but not only does the general trade, but our competitors even, admit that no other house in the State carries the lines of merchandise we do.

Our spring stock is now arriving; in a few days it will be all in. Let us tell you of our leaders.

In Clothing, Stein Bloch, Adler Bros., Michaels Stern & Co., Garson Meyer & Co.

In Hats, John B. Stetson Co., the best in the world.

In men's Shoes, Hanan & Son, W. L. Douglas and Geo. E. Keith.

Our leader in Dress and Negligee Shirts is the "Manhattan."

Our Furnishing Goods, Wilson Brothers, the acknowledged leaders of Gents' Furnishings in the world.

Our Tailoring Department is worth your while to look over. Our Mr. Walther will be glad to show you through.

Our Neckwear department for spring is replete with the productions of two of the leading Neckwear houses in the country, viz: Fred Walton Co. and R. Waterhouse Co.

DELAYS ARE DANGEROUS....

Hundreds testify to the wonderful efficacy of.....

BOND'S

ASTHMA, HAY FEVER and RHEUMATISM

CURE

And all kindred complaints, due to an excess of uric acid in the blood. It accomplishes its wonderful results first, by purifying the blood and counteracting the existing poisons; second, by toning up the kidneys, liver and stomach, and thus enabling them to dispel all foreign and unnatural secretions. Don't delay. At this time of the year everything is conducive to these distressing and treacherous diseases. At the first symptom take this famous medicine. You will find it almost miraculous in its action and positive in its good results.

For sale by Henry W. Ray, J. James Wood & Son and Thomas J. Chenoweth, druggists, Maysville, Ky.

TOBACCO BEDS

NOW require attention, and though a little early, it is not too soon to think of other out-door work that in the near future will have to be done. We want our friends to know that we have recently received large shipments of Farm and Garden Tools, such as Hoes, Rakes, Spades, Shovels, Mattocks, Pitch Forks, Etc.

Also a complete line of Whitewash Brushes and WIRE NETTING in all the various widths. Buying in such vast quantities, we can afford to offer special inducements to the retail trade. We again take pleasure in inviting the farmers' attention to the fact that we are city agents for Hall's celebrated Limestone PLOW.
